

FACING THE FUTURE:

PROMOTING SUSTAINABLE PRACTICES

April 23, 2008 ♦ 8:00 a.m.–10:30 a.m.

Mid-America Regional Council ♦ 600 Broadway, Suite 200 ♦ Kansas City, Missouri

An open forum for the exchange of information, ideas and opinions about the future of local governments

Bob O'Neill, executive director of the International City/County Management Association (ICMA) will speak to the pressing issues facing local governments — particularly ICMA's new focus on promoting sustainable communities. For the second half of the program,

O'Neill will be joined by a panel of local government administrators who will provide us with their perspective on how their local governments are addressing sustainability and other pertinent issues. There will also be time at the end of the program to have an informal conversation with O'Neill on current issues.

O'Neill has held the position of city manager in Hampton, Virginia, and Fairfax County, Virginia. He also served as executive director of the National Academy of Public Administration.
