Title: Senior Associate – Equitable Economic/Workforce Development

Location: Portland, OR

Full-time, Exempt Position

Online Open House: Want to learn more about our firm? We are hosting a virtual open house on June 24, 2024, from 12:00 pm – 12:45 pm (PST). If you are interested, please RSVP to careers@estolanoadvisors.com with the subject line “EA Open House RSVP.”

Are you committed to advancing racial and gender equity to build a future where all communities can benefit from economic and climate investments? Are you an excellent project manager ready to apply your skills to build strong collaborations that deliver impactful policies and strategies for our most vulnerable communities? Do you enjoy bringing diverse stakeholders together to unify around a common cause? If so, come collaborate with us as we grow our team!

Estolano Advisors (EA) is a BIPOC owned and led award-winning urban planning and public policy firm that provides clients with equity-focused solutions to create thriving, healthy, vibrant communities. In the region and nationally, our firm is advising governments on how to collaborate effectively to supersize their impact on economic mobility for marginalized communities. We are helping private sector partners build community benefits through their investments. And we are connecting child care advocates with the semiconductor sector to reimagine how investments can grow the care sector.

We use an interdisciplinary approach to advising our clients in government, nonprofits, and philanthropy on policies, programs, and actions that benefit communities most affected by racial, economic, and environmental injustice. In the Pacific Northwest, we are building an exciting new team to bring our approach to advancing equitable workforce and economic development strategies to a broad range of urban and rural communities and Tribal nations. Are you ready to grow your career and your networks with us? This is a hybrid position (partially in-person).

Job Description

As a Senior Associate in the Portland team, you will work closely with the Pacific Northwest Director to grow our relationships and work with governments, philanthropy, frontline communities and Tribal nations. The Senior Associate's portfolio will include variety of projects ranging from advising on the development of workforce equity plans, community benefits agreements, to regional and project-specific child care strategy and research, advancing climate and environmental justice, and active transportation. The Senior Associate will gain a variety of skills integral to their ongoing success in the private consulting sector and build on their skillsets as a planning and public policy professional in project management, writing for a variety of audiences, planning, and facilitating stakeholder engagements, and developing pragmatic and implementable strategies and recommendations for our public, private, philanthropic, and business clients. The Senior Associate will work independently and as part of a team to demonstrate that a thoughtful and strategic interdisciplinary approach will create equitable, healthy, and sustainable communities. A Senior Associate will direct the work of Associates, Project Assistants, and Research Analysts and will be guided and supervised by Principals and the CEO.

The right person for this position will have demonstrated experience effectively project managing multi-member teams, skillfully integrating research and data analysis into policy design, thoughtfully convening a variety of stakeholder groups to advance shared goals and working closely with clients; and is a creative problem solver who can work collaboratively in a team to deliver results.

Specific duties for the Senior Associate position include:

- Lead project planning, development, and implementation.
- Manage multiple projects and ensure effective alignment with budgets, scopes, staffing, timelines, invoicing, and project delivery.
- Develop and maintain relationships with regional partners and workforce advocates -- especially those working with low-income communities of color.
- Manage input gathering and guidance from project stakeholders, often including government, workforce, labor, industry and community stakeholders.
- Facilitation and meeting management.
- Work with and presents to technical and policy staff from public agencies, non-profits, community-based organizations, elected officials, and the public.
- Manage clients, subcontractors, contracts, and projects.
- Manage client communications and expectations.
- Lead the compilation of reports, presentations, and proposals.
- Provide quality assurance / quality control on all work products.
- Coordinate business development activities and lead proposal development
- Supervise and mentor assigned staff.
- Stay current on evolving trends in urban planning, equitable economic development, and other policy areas.
- Administrative tasks, as needed.

Skills

Successful candidates must have outstanding project management skills, analytical and written skills, creative problem-solving skills, excellent listening skills, a professional demeanor, and the ability to work well in a team setting. Other demonstrated skills and proficiencies include:

- Demonstrated ability to effectively manage multiple projects simultaneously to achieve goals.
- Effective facilitation of groups with a variety of stakeholders.
- Experience advancing equity policies and programs in impacted communities through work with organizations that could include government agencies, non-profit and community organizations.
- Ability to create internal and external research products and materials.

- Ability to manage collaborations on research and analysis projects with a range of technical experts.
- Ability to translate high-level and technical concepts to a range of audiences in an accessible and productive way.
- Experience leading staff, working on challenging, deadline- and budget-driven projects.
- Proven ability to complete projects on time and on budget.

Location

- Portland, Oregon

Qualifications

Ideal candidates have a demonstrated commitment to social and racial justice and building thriving, inclusive communities. They possess a desire for real-world experience and knowledge in the fields of urban planning, equitable economic development, climate and sustainability, mobility justice, and/or housing. The ideal candidate has worked with racial equity frameworks and/or lenses and has a deep understanding of economic and social systems that create racialized barriers, and the history and current conditions affecting diverse communities. Candidates also must have work experience and education in one or more of the following areas:

- Urban Planning and Land Use
- Child Care Sector
- Housing & Homelessness Policy
- Economic Development
- Climate & Environmental Policy
- Sustainable Development
- Public Policy
- Transportation Planning
- Workforce Development

A Master's Degree in any of these or related fields and at least three years of full-time relevant work experience; and/or a BA plus at least seven years of relevant work and management experience.

Compensation and Benefits

This is a full-time position with a starting salary range of $85,000 to $100,000 per year (based on relevant experience).

Benefits: EA provides 100% employer-paid medical, dental, and vision insurance for employees and qualified dependents (no waiting period for eligibility for medical, dental, vision benefits). EA provides Life and Long-Term Disability Insurance and makes available a Flexible Spending Account option (pretax benefits used for unreimbursed medical expenses, family care etc.). We provide an annual 3% contribution to your 401(k)-retirement plan. We provide partial reimbursement for monthly cell phone service and home internet services, a local transit reimbursement stipend, and an annual professional development budget.

Paid time off: 5 sick days, 10 vacation days (additional days accrue with tenure), and 18 paid holidays as follows.

- 9 federal holidays, plus César Chávez Day, Juneteenth, and Indigenous Peoples' Day (12 holidays in total)
- One additional day (could be used for a cultural or religious holiday, your birthday, or as an additional vacation day)
